

Command Leadership Philosophy

- Look out for each other
- Live with integrity and humility
- Strive to learn and grow
- Find your genuine leadership style
- Have fun

This leadership philosophy defines who I am and how I make decisions. I look forward to hearing yours.

Command Leadership Priorities

I define unit success as a crew that is happy, healthy, and effective. Service, Mission, and Wellness are keys to achieve it.

Service - we are professionals in the U.S. Armed Forces.

- Act in accordance with our Core Values and oath.
- Be ethical stewards of the responsibility and resources entrusted to us by the Public.
- We will do our best to complete all required training and maintenance.

Mission - we will be Ready, Relevant, and Responsive.

- Manage risk on and off duty.
- Conduct operations in the safest effective way.
- Know and own your job.

Wellness - we will look out for each other's wellbeing and ensure a culture that is respectful and inclusive.

- Value your physical, mental, and emotional health. We cannot successfully serve or conduct operations without it.
- Promote personal and professional growth.
- Do not tolerate behavior that is contrary to our Service, Mission, and Wellness.

You and your families are MYRTLE HAZARD. Her safety, success, and morale rely on all of us. I look forward to sailing with you.

LT T.J. Seleznick