

Directions to U.S. Coast Guard Sector Anchorage

G-Wing, Building 49000, Army Guard Road, Fort Richardson, Alaska

- From the Glenn Highway, take the JBER- Richardson exit.
- From the exit ramp, turn northwest towards the gate and security checkpoint. (You may need to park and check in at the visitor's center before proceeding through the checkpoint, depending on your base access privileges and any pre-arrangements you may have made through Sector Anchorage.)
- After the security checkpoint, you will enter Fort Richardson on D Street.
- From D Street, take the first right onto an unnamed spur approximately 200 yards past the gate; there are jersey barriers and metal barricades in this area. The turn is easy to miss—if you pass the gas station on D Street, you have gone too far. (On weekday mornings, the gate guards relocate from the gate to this in-processing area, so if you arrive in the morning, you may be forced by a blockade across D Street to make this right turn.)
- After you turn right, you will be on a short two-lane one-way street. Stay in the right lane. The right lane splits just before a small guard shack with a stop sign. Again, stay to the right.
- After the guard shack and stop sign, turn right onto Ruff Road.
- Continue along Ruff Road for approximately 1.25 miles. From Ruff Road, take the first right onto a road marked with a brown sign listing building numbers; at the bottom of this sign is "Building 49000 DMVA." (This road is unnamed and may not show up on your GPS device.)
- Sector Anchorage's parking lot is the first one you will see at the end of this road. Visitor spaces are available in the row directly in front of the building.
- Enter the door on the far left-hand side of the building and proceed upstairs. Check in at the front desk in Suite 218-A (Command Suite).
